

Geminid Meteor Shower Peaks with the Full Moon

This year's Geminid Meteor Shower peaks on the night of December 13/14, and the Long Night Moon is full on the night of December 14/15. This creates most unfavorable conditions for meteor observing. Unfortunately, the bright light of the full Moon will wash out the views of all but the brightest Geminids.