

How to View Member Image Gallery Pictures

When you first click on an image it will come up with a set of controls in the upper right-hand corner of the image that look like this: . The first control on the left makes the image Fullscreen, the second one magnifies the image, the third allows for various ways to share the image and the fourth closes the window and opens up another window of the image with additional controls, and a filmstrip of gallery image thumbnails at the bottom. These controls are found on the left-hand side of the screen in a vertical orientation on a computer screen, as shown to the right below, or at the top of the page in a horizontal position on a mobile device, with the controls going from right to left. The controls will respond as follows: the  will close the image view and go back to the main Member Images Gallery; the  will provide a Fullscreen version of the image; and the  will provide additional information about the image, under the image. The next two vertical controls on a computer will move back and forth between images - these are on the top left of the display on a mobile device. The last control, on a computer screen allows for the movement of the filmstrip images, either to the left or to the right. These controls are on either side of the filmstrip on a mobile device.
